Christine Lloyd Recommendation

Christine Lloyd is an incredible realtor. Not only is she skilled in every aspect of real estate, but she is also a psychologist when it comes to the art of selling homes.

My experience with Christine is one that I will never forget. I had a property that needed to be sold in a short sale. Christine is somewhat of an expert in this area. She knew how to negotiate with the bank, with the potential buyers (and there were several), but she also knew how to show my property in it's best light. When difficulties arose from the buyer's lender, Christine solved all of the issues with determination, persistence and intelligence. She created a win-win-win situation for all parties, and we are all very grateful to Christine for the time and efforts she put into making this sale transaction go through.

I cannot recommend her more highly.

Sincerely,
